were familiar with. During the business session, resolutions were passed on the deaths of John Z. Lawson and Omar W. Whittemore, both active members in the Board of Trade, who passed away last month. The resolutions were read and the members then stood with bowed heads in silence for a minute in memory of these two men.

The committee in charge of the annual outing of the organization reported two places available and it was voted to hold the outing at Salem Willows again this year on Wednesday, August 11. This is going to be a big affair for the business men of the town and there will be something going all the time.

The committee on Parks and Boulevards reported that they had been in touch with the school authorities relative to the abuse of the grass plots adjoining the Junior High School Central, Town Hall and Robbins Library. The Board of Trade discussed this matter at the previous meeting and instructed its committee to see if the pupils of the school could not be induced to use the walks instead of taking short cuts over the beautiful lawns. The pupils were spoken to and the change has been very marked, showing that they wish to co-operate with the town authorities in making and keeping the place about the town buildings beautiful.

The teams entered in the drive for new members reported progress and several new members were added to the membership list, being voted in at this meeting.

At this time the matter of the taking of the Tappan farm by the Boston Elevated Railway Company was discussed very freely. Selectman Charles H. Higgins told of what had been done thus far by the Joint Board and that this body was to a unit against the project. A number of the members of the Board of Trade spoke on the matter, all being heartily against the granting of any permits to the Elevated to use this property for a terminal. The members voted to have a committee of members of the Board of Trade appointed to circulate a petition and secure names on the petition which will accompany a letter which was adopted and will be sent to the Joint Board. It is expected that at least 10,000 signatures will be obtained on this petition and then it will be sent to the Joint Board and used when necessary. A committee of seven was also appointed by the meeting to look up some other site in the town that would be of use to the Elevated as a terminal and this committee is to report at a meeting of the Board of Trade which will be called as soon as the committee finds some other suitable place. All were urged to action and that something very determined must be done and done at once was plainly set forth.

The speaker of the evening was J. C. Staton, assistant division manager for sales and advertising of the California Associated Raisin Company. Mr. Staton, previous to his showing of the pictures, told of the making of the barren wastes of California into productive areas in the past few years and he gave one great proof that advertising pays. All of us know well the small box of raisins that can be purchased anywhere for five cents. This started out as an advertisement and has grown to an industry in itself. The company started the campaign of advertising a little over a year ago and increased its business ninety-six percent. He then showed on a moving picture machine the vast areas used for the raising of raisins and showed the method of marketing, harvesting, drying, and handling. The machine took the audience through the extensive factory of the company, showing the hundreds of employees at work and the sanitary manner in which the raisins are handled. All the drying and curing is done by aid of the sun. The barren lands are now made fertile by means of storing in reservoirs the vast volumes of water pouring down from the snow capped mountains.

At the close of this feature, Mr. Staton told of the uphill fight the growers of California had with the big combines. For many years the grower took what the big combine wanted to give him and he was starting to death on the little he had left over each year. His children were not properly taken care of, the schools were run down and there was only one school house. To a New England school teacher belongs the credit of introducing the fruit as a confection, this young lady having started this as a side line to help out on her salary while teaching in California. Out of this has grown the great industry shown the Board of Trade. The speaker stated that the farmers or vinyardists, becoming disgusted with the methods of the big combines, formed the association now in vogue, through which they have become wealthy. There are plenty of schools, good roads and all enjoy their new life, marketing their products through their own organization instead of the trust and making good, having successfully marketed some $50,000,000 worth of raisins last year.

The Protest Meeting at the Town Hall last week revealed the fact that the town was one in its opposition to the proposal of the Boston Elevated. But if the residents of the town will put their signatures to a petition it will have great value in assisting the Joint Board of Selectmen and Public Works, in their work of solving this problem. There is no question as to the attitude of the town officials on the matter.

A PETITION AGAINST THE USE OF TAPPAN FARM FOR CAR YARD TO BE CIRCULATED

As stated elsewhere in the Advocate the Arlington Board of Trade at its meeting on Tuesday evening, appointed a committee to take charge of securing ten thousand signatures of Arlington residents, to a petition against the use of the Tappan farm as a car yard by the Boston Elevated. This committee proposes to carry out their commission by organizing divisions with captains over each to make a thorough canvass of each street in the town. This canvass will begin next week. All persons over eighteen years of age will be given an opportunity to sign. It is hoped that the people of Arlington will co-operate in the matter by not detaining the visitor too long when he calls.

The Protest Meeting at the Town Hall last week revealed the fact that the town was one in its opposition to the proposal of the Boston Elevated. But if the residents of the town will put their signatures to a petition it will have great value in assisting the Joint Board of Selectmen and Public Works, in their work of solving this problem. There is no question as to the attitude of the town officials on the matter.

Messrs. Editors:
In an article headed "School Committee Not Instructed," published in the issue of the Arlington Advocate of June 2, 1922, it seems to the Board of Selectmen that perhaps the impression that the article left in the minds of the public was that the School Committee would be warranted in disbursing any amount of money for increasing expenditures for salaries or other objects for which their money was to be disbursed. This is not so. The school budget is usually made up of separate items to cover the necessary expenses for the year.

The School Committee under this decision are not obliged to adhere strictly to the budget item as voted by the town, but they cannot exceed the total appropriation. The committee are thus restricted and cannot exceed the total amount of the appropriation for the year for all purposes, as the following paragraph in the same decree shows clearly: "The school committee only assert a right to fix the salaries of teachers in conformity to their own sound discretion without being restricted in this regard to particular items specified in the budget. That contention is sound."

It is to be noted here that no question is raised as to an attempt by a school committee to spend more than a total appropriation made for the support of the public schools. The school committee only assert a right to fix salaries of teachers in conformity to their own sound discretion without being restricted in this regard to particular items specified in the budget. That contention is sound. The statutes interpreted as an harmonious body of laws in the light of our history and traditions as to the public school system, conferred upon the school committee of Springfield, power to establish the salaries of teachers within the total amounts appropriated by the budget, according to their best judgment of public needs, as set forth in G. L., c. 71, and other laws governing the conduct of public schools.

IF THE BOSTON ELEVATED ERECTS A CARBARN IN ARLINGTON

At the public meeting called last week Thursday in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, to protest against the Boston Elevated Railroad erecting a carbarn on the Tappan farm, recently acquired by them by purchase from Mr. Tappan, Miss Armstrong, the "realtor," with office at East Arlington, presented some facts in regard to the growth of that section of Arlington, giving them as reasons why the Boston Elevated should not erect a carbarn in that section of our town. The following are some of the data presented for the consideration of the citizens present at that meeting by Miss Armstrong:—

"East Arlington represents more than one-half the population of the whole town and is strictly a community of homes. It has experienced the greatest growth in the last two years—when property has been more in demand in Arlington, than in any other suburb of Boston—for, according to statistical reports we have turned over one-third more real estate in Arlington, according to our population, than in any other point within a radius of eight miles.

"In East Arlington over one million dollars worth of property has changed hands in the last twelve months—in my office alone, more than one-half million dollars worth of EAST-ARLINGTON property has been sold in the last fourteen months. "This means that people have come from various points because of the advantages Arlington has to offer both as a residential town and a safe investment for their money—their hard earned savings of a life time, in many cases, have been used to purchase these homes. Are these people not to be considered? Do you realize what a CARBARN in the midst of this community of homes would mean?

"It means that absolute reduction of values of at least 60 percent, and in many cases 40 percent of their present valuation.

"Professor Montague, a national authority on real estate values, at one time said in his lecture course at the Boston University, on Practical and Theoretical Real Estate, that a TEN THOUSAND DOLLAR house in a FIVE THOUSAND DOLLAR NEIGHBORHOOD IS WORTH FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS. Professor Montague is one of the six best appraisers in the United States and he ought to know what he is talking about.

"Besides, this proposed site would mean to our Town of Arlington seventy-five (75) new two-family houses—approximating their assessed valuation at $8,500.00 each, which is low, we have about $650,000 worth of taxable property right in this area alone, not considering the loss to the town of 150 new families.

"Now what about the area immediately bordering the Tappan Farm?—Harlow street—with its high class properties that have been selling from $11,000 to $25,000 in the last two years, and rentals of sixty-five and seventy-five dollars a suite? What about these homes with their rear lots back up to carbarns? How much would you give for an apartment on Harlow street if the carbarn is erected on Tappan Farm? How much can an owner hope to sell his property for?—I wager to say for less than half of its worth today."

Miss Armstrong made a point of the Allen Homestead, with its eighty-three home sites, and a probable taxable valuation of $1,000,000—a new development of the past eighteen months. Also, Marion road, and raised the question as to what would be its outlook if the carbarns are erected. The owner of this property loses at least $40,000 if the Boston Elevated goes through with this movement.

"The demand for homes grows greater every day. The Registrar of Deeds in East Cambridge will tell you that there has never been, heretofore, a bigger demand than has asserted itself in 1922."

"The government says that the people of the United States shall be considered, and that every possible effort should be made to relieve the housing situation.

"Can the Boston Elevated show any good reason why North Cambridge and Arlington Heights would not be a better location for them to establish what they term 'necessary carbarns,' than in one of the most valuable areas in the Town of Arlington today?"

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING MATTER OF TAKING TAPPAN FARM BY BOSTON ELEVATED DISCUSSED

The Arlington Board of Trade held its last meeting for the season on Tuesday evening, meeting in the banquet hall of G. A. R. Hall and enjoying one of the best of its kind in a long time. It was a meeting, so far as the lecture section went, that was entirely different from any held during the year. It was largely attended and previous to the calling to order, a beautiful dinner was served by the Hardy Catering Company. At each plate was a small package of raisins, presented by the Sun Maid Raisin Company to members for their enjoyment. After the dinner, the customary social hour was enjoyed, with singing and a general good time.

President R. Walter Hilliard called the meeting to order and introduced formal exercises with a song that all

PLATOON SYSTEM IN ARLINGTON SCHOOLS REVIEWED BY BURR F. JONES, WELL KNOWN EDUCATOR

The following articles in regard to the Platoon system in Arlington schools appeared in the Christian Science Monitor last week. It will, no doubt, be of interest to many of our citizens to know that one of the foremost men in our state, Burr F. Jones, supervisor of elementary education in Massachusetts, has deemed the system of enough importance in solving the problem of economical housing and at the same time a saving to town and cities financially, to visit Arlington schools and to study the system as it has been introduced by Supt. Minard and has been working with splendid results for the past three years. The article was accompanied by a large cut of Mr. Minard.

"Confronted with an expenditure of $17,000,000 for additional school accommodations now under construction or authorized for 35,000 school children in various parts of Massachusetts, attention of school men and financial leaders is directed more and more searching to the platoon system of housing school children. Schoolhouse shortage being more or less of a national problem, educators all over the country are 'heads up' on the proposition. This system makes it possible to care for from 50 per cent to 100 per cent more children in a given building than under the usual plan. Because of its advantages the cities of Detroit, Mich., and Newark, N. J., have adopted the platoon system as a permanent educational policy. Rochester, N. Y., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Akron, O., have adopted it in part. In Arlington, Mass., it has been in operation for several years.

Introduced as a housing expedient, now, after a thorough trial of three years, George C. Minard, superintendent of schools in Arlington, pronounces it, when properly carried out, as pedagogically sound and of indisputable economic superiority. He recommends the plan especially for cities on the ground that it reduces the number of buildings with their original cost and subsequent upkeep, enriches the curriculum, lengthens the school day and relieves the cities of the tremendous burden of the frequent issue of long-term bonds made necessary by the building programs for buildings of the old type. Many of the school buildings now in use in large cities, he says, could be remodeled at comparatively small expense to make them suitable for the two-platoon system.

Burr F. Jones, supervisor of elementary education, Massachusetts Department of Education, says, "The Arlington plan appears to be full of promise, and is worthy of careful study. An enriched curriculum, expert teaching and intensive use of the school building and grounds are the keynotes. One cannot fail to be impressed not only with the organization but with the breadth of the curriculum provided. Though the 'three R's' appear not to be slighted, substantial time is given in all the grades to music and its appreciation, drawing, athletics and auditorium work."

Both teachers and pupils declare the work to be much more interesting than under the traditional plan. The teacher has opportunity to develop her work in logical sequence from grade to grade and specialize in subjects which interest her most. The child has expert teaching in each subject and there is a more equitable distribution of the service of the individual teacher, each pupil sharing in the best the school has to offer during the entire period of his life at that school.

By accommodating the larger number of pupils under one roof it has been found possible and economical to introduce special teachers. An auditorium teacher is one of the special features made possible to the Arlington schools by the two-platoon plan. Auditorium work has become a feature in schools in the middle west but is new to New England. The auditorium, now admitted to be essential to every school, has lain idle much of the time, but with an auditorium teacher there are few moments during the day when it is not in use. Her work is closely correlated with the academic work of the school. It deals chiefly with civics, speech training and visual activities.

Under the new plan formerly waste rooms in basements, small rooms utilized for storage purposes and odd corners, all have been brought into requisition, made habitable and attractive. As no child is confined in one of these rooms for more than a short time each day there seems to be no valid objection to its use for teaching purposes although it may be in a basement.

There is no general recess at the Arlington schools but play periods of one-half hour each under the direction of the teacher in athletics, so that each child takes active part in the games.

Mr. Minard would carry the plan further. Instead of separate municipal baths and gymnasiums, he would have all these special features, even including an additional auditorium, where that is practicable, an integral part of the school building but so placed that they can be completely shut off from the school proper. By this means a real community center can be established with great economy of original cost and administration. This arrangement will bring extra facilities to the school children while the neighborhood generally has the advantage of them the year round. One group need not interfere with the other.

In this way there need be no waste of idle buildings during several months of the year nor is the usefulness of the buildings limited to six hours a day, five days a week, but all groups of people will find themselves served the year round at a minimum cost.

That Arlington schools are in the lime light would seem apparent by two other articles that have recently appeared in the Christian Monitor. The first, in regard to the work being done by the pupils in the Cutter school in drawing under the supervision of Miss Rose Whitney. In this article was a sketch of an original free-hand drawing in color by Arline Fowler who is a sixth grade pupil in the Cutter school. Another was a group of heads done by Catherine Brown, also in the sixth grade. There was still another article, of the wonderful work that Miss Grace Pierce, the music supervisor, is doing in our schools. Her work is attracting the attention of educators all over the state. We doubt if there is another town that has such an enthusiastic, progressive and thoroughly competent supervisor of music in the person of Miss Pierce, as Arlington is so fortunate in having.

HALL-CHAMBERLAIN WEDDING

Evelyn Blanche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Chamberlain of 16 Palmer street, Arlington, and Mr. Norman Wmslow Hall of Robin Hood road, Arlington, were married in the First Baptist church, Arlington, Saturday evening, June 3rd, before a large company of friends and relatives.

The pulpit was prettily arranged with potted hydrangeas in the blue shade, combined with palms and on the choir railing were festooned ropes of laurel tied with bow knots of white maline. In the front of the platform was a basket filled with white and pink peonies.

While the guests were arriving and being seated by the ushers, the organist of the church, Mr. Mark N. Dickey, gave a musical program. The strains of Lohengrin's wedding march heralded the approach of the wedding party, preceded by the arrival of the ministers, Rev. Don Ivan Patch of the Orthodox Congregational church where the bride is a member, and Dr. Henry Sterling Potter of the Baptist church, where the bride's father is a deacon, who took their places at the altar followed by the groom and his best man, who was Mr. Walter T. Chamberlain, a brother of the bride.

The bride is a blond of more than ordinary attractiveness, and on this occasion she was radiant in her lovely wedding toilette of white crepe and silver lace. This latter was on the bodice and applied on the skirt. It was made with a full court train, the silver lace being applied on the edge of the train. The tulle veil was arranged on the hair with a band of pearls combined with orange blossoms. The shower bouquet was of lilies of the valley and white roses.

The bride entered the church with her father who gave her away and was preceded by the ushers, also four bridesmaids and one maid of honor, and a little flower girl. The ushers were Lawrence Warren of Arlington, Chester W. Hall of Somerville, a brother of the bride, Fred Merrill of Manchester, N. H., a brother-in-law of the groom; Frank Edwards of Brookline, a cousin of the bride; Oliver Wood and Forest Cameron, both of Arlington. The bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Chamberlain and Mildred Cox, both cousins of the bride, Miss Lucrècia Kellogg and Doris Peale, all of Arlington. They were in rose and silver changeable taffeta and carried sweet peas to match the frocks. Miss Edith Margaret Davis of Arlington, was the maid of honor. She was in pale green taffeta with side ruffles of maline in the darker shade and bow knots of silver ribbon. She carried Ophelia roses. Elizabeth Beycroft, the three-year-old cousin of the bride, was the flower girl and she made a most fascinating picture as she walked down the aisle preceding the bride, strewing her path with rose petals. She was in a white point d'esprit over flesh colored satin.

It was the double ring service performed by Mr. Patch with prayer by Dr. Potter, and after its conclusion the wedding party left the church to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march, and were driven to the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held to one hundred and fifty guests. The house was decorated with palms and cut flowers. A four-piece orchestra played during the reception during which the couple were assisted in receiving by their parents. Mrs. Chamberlain was in sapphire blue lace over silver cloth. Mrs. Hall was in a steel beaded blue georgette tunic over electric blue satin. An out of town caterer served refreshments in the dining room. The many and beautiful gifts were displayed in one of the rooms. The couple left that evening on a two weeks' auto trip through New York State. When they return they will occupy their new home, which the groom has built for his bride, located at 34 Robinhood road, Arlington. The groom is employed with the Kidder, Peabody Company of Boston. The bride is an accomplished pianist.

WHALEN CHAMPION BOWLER OF NEW ENGLAND

James Whalen of Cambridge maintained his title of champion of New England at the candle pin game by defeating Martel, a well known bowler of Greater Boston who sought to displace Whalen from the position. The final match was rolled on the Arlington Alleys last Friday evening and Whalen won out, rolling one of the steadiest matches of his career. The first match of the series had been rolled earlier in the week and Martel had a lead of 66 pins; which Whalen had to overcome in the final match. The final went ten strings and when it was over Whalen not only had made up the 66 pins, but had a lead of 29 pins over his opponent. The match was witnessed by a large number, the reputation of each roller bringing out all the fans in this section. For the first four strings the bowlers were about even, but from then on Whalen took a start and steadily drew away from his opponent, his last five strings being very steady while Martel weakened and failed to come up to his standard. The scores were as follows:—Whalen, 105, 106, 112, 118, 123, 101, 113, 104, 119, 109, total 1110. Martel, 104, 122, 107, 90, 115, 85, 84, 118, 95, 95, total 1015.

INFORMATION

This is the season of the school boy and girl. They occupy the stage, and they deserve to, for in them are the promise and pledge of a worthy future. A nation may rejoice over its past, and be stirred deeply by the heroism of its noble sons and daughters; but no nation can live on its past merely, without being untrue to the future.

"New occasions teach new duties: Time makes ancient good uncouth: They must upward still, and onward, who would keep abreast of Truth."

This forward look, with hope and courage and confidence, is youth's high calling. Unless one believes in future possibilities, he might as well "hang up the fiddle and the bow." And yet even "the past's blood-rusted key" may unlock portals of great value. Some treasures may be found even in Egyptian tombs.

For instance, our young people know vastly more than their parents or grandparents in bits, but only in fragments. Education is oftener fractions than whole numbers. How many see anything through, as did Britling? A sip here, and a bite there, and a sandwich yonder, and the day of graduation comes round. Perhaps this is the best that can be done for a boy or girl; and yet one good meal at the educational feast would be worth all the dainties passed around at a four o'clock tea.

Why, should not a boy or girl become a lover of Horace or Virgil or Homer, instead of an unwilling dissector of verbs, and adjectives, and nouns? Why not read some Latin or Greek author long enough and thoroughly enough to get the taste and even flavor of the writer? Much might be omitted without harm, provided some one thing is done thoroughly. Would it not be far better to be familiar with Horace, for example, then to sip a half a dozen great Latin poets? It may be doubted whether any boy or girl should be graduated from the public school without freedom in the use of some modern language besides his or her own at least.

What is imperatively needed is thoroughness, not so much in detail as in fullness and completeness. A mastery of Macbeth would be worth more than a list of all the plays of Shakespeare. A friend became intelligently acquainted with all the literature of a certain subject, and the achievement gave him a new sensation. Until then he knew many things in dribs and drabs, but now for the first time he knew one thing in fullness.

It is much the same with reading. How few people ever read a book through from the first to the last page, unless some novel which excites the feelings but offers almost nothing to the mind? The first book I read through seemed to be almost as much of a triumph as would be the climbing of a mountain. It required a desperate effort, but having conquered one book, it was much easier to read the second. Not every book lures one on to the end, and yet some very dry books are very valuable. Then it is a good discipline to follow a line of thought to the horizon to cultivate the habit of following the trail without picking bouquets or fishing along the way.

But to master a subject, a department of knowledge, may seem like removing a mountain into the sea; and yet a specialist is not a fool though he may seem so sometimes. Not all of us can become specialists, but we can master the underlying facts or principles and thereby be qualified to give a sane, if not always a sound judgment. Would it not be worth more to know about fruit trees thoroughly, than to know a thousand things about nature sewed together like a crazy-quilt. What I have in mind, is the satisfaction of knowing something through, wrestling with a subject, until you throw it, as Hercules threw Antaeus.

WATERTOWN BEATS ARLINGTON

Last Friday afternoon the Watertown High school team came back at Arlington High and won their game in the Mystic Valley League series. Watertown went strong in the first two innings and scored three runs. In the seventh and ninth innings Arlington rallied and had a chance to win their game, scoring two runs in each inning. The game ended six to five in favor of Watertown. The Arlington boys hit the ball well but could not make the circuit of the bases, or get the hits in where they would do the most damage. Fall and Lane did the twirling for the Arlington team with Scanlan doing the work behind the bat. The score by innings:—

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Watertown H. S.	1	2	0	1	1	0	1	0	—
Arlington H. S.	0	0	1	0	0	2	0	2	—

HARVEY H. BACON THE NEW BOY SCOUT EXECUTIVE

Harvey H. Bacon of 20 Russell terrace, well known all over Eastern Massachusetts for his work with the Boy Scout and the Boys' Brigade Movements, on June 1 became Scout Executive of the Arlington Council, Boy Scouts of America. From now on he will devote his entire time to the work.

Mr. Bacon brings to the office an experience of eight years with the Boy Scouts, several years with the Boys' Brigade, an unbounded enthusiasm for the work and a rare faculty for handling boys. That the Arlington Council and the Arlington Boy Scouts are to be congratulated upon obtaining such a man for executive goes without saying.

The new executive is an Arlington boy, born and bred, and a large part of his work among boys has been right here in this town. He knows Arlington boys and he knows Arlington conditions. He is thoroughly conversant with all previous Boy Scout activities here and is formulating plans to make the work in Arlington even more potent for good.

When 14 years of age, Mr. Bacon joined the Boys' Brigade. A few years later he brought it to this town, organizing two companies, one at the Methodist church at the Heights and one at the Central Baptist church. When these companies were on a sound basis he turned his mind to more important work and soon was made physical director of the first regiment, with the rank of captain.

Eight years ago he became interested in the Boy Scouts and started Troop 5 at the Heights. A year later he turned that troop over to another and when 19 boys, graduates from Troop 1, the Rev. Frank L. Masse's old troop, approached him and asked him to organize a troop of older boys (16 to 18 years old), he organized Troop 6 at the Central Baptist church and became Scoutmaster. After a year with Troop 6 he turned it over to Fred E. Brown and became Assistant Deputy Commissioner with headquarters at Cambridge, Cambridge and Arlington then being in the same council. Later he was made president of the Court of Honor.

About that time Troop 3 was organized at the Baptist church and Mr. Bacon joined it as Assistant Scoutmaster to help out. There he worked until three years ago, when he organized the "M. Y. O. B.", an organization of young men, too old for scouting, but desiring to keep up their Boy Scout friendships. With this club he was very successful and it grew from a score or more boys to 40, the present membership, an organization which has already proved of great value for good. During several of these years Mr. Bacon also found time to teach in the Automobile School of Northeastern College, B. Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Bacon will have headquarters in the Old Town Hall where, with his secretary, he will be found every day. He proposes to effect a permanent organization with all-the-year-round activities, public rallies, meetings and the like. Already he is making his plans for the June rally which will be held on the playground and which will give the public an opportunity to see just what the Arlington Boy Scouts are doing and just what the Boy Scout movement means.

The new executive is married and has three daughters.

M. Y. O. B.

10c FOR A BOY?—

Would you be willing to invest that much in a real boy? Is it worth 10c to know your 18-year-old boy is not on the street corner all the evening? How many ten cents would you be willing to give to assure yourself that when he went out in the evening he would spend his time with companions any one could be proud of?

The M. Y. O. B. Club, backed by such men as Harold L. Frost, N. J. Hardy, Major Willard, A. H. Knowles, Charles H. Higgins, and several of our well known men, is trying to collect 1 MILE OF DIMES to erect a club house where they and your boy if he is willing to abide by their constitution and by-laws can spend every evening next winter. Years to come they are planning a gym, shower baths, and such things that make for better boyhood and manhood.

They ask you for 10c (1-16 of a foot), and you may give as many of these as your interest will warrant. Let them know you are back of them. Give them a lift. Who can tell what good one dime might do invested today in better boyhood.

THE SENATORIAL ELECTION

For the first time, this year women will have a voice not only in who shall be Senator from this state, but also in selecting candidates for that honor. Even as now registered they are sufficiently numerous to be the deciding factor and their registration at the next opportunity to do so will be large.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge is a candidate to succeed himself in the position he has so long and honorably filled and with an ability which gives him a ranking position in the U. S. Senate. Entering the arena of politics as a young man some forty-five years ago, he has through this lengthened period given the best that is in him for the good of his country as he has seen the path of duty. Of his personal integrity and high sense of honor there has never been the slightest question. That he has signal ability and grasp of national and world-wide affairs possessed by few, even his rankest political enemy will frankly admit. For the past few years, Senator Lodge has been perhaps the one commanding figure in national legislation sharing it, if there is to be a division of honor, with such names as Root and Knox. These are some of his qualifications.

In the maturity of his mental power, in fine physical health, with purpose to serve his state as far as lies in his power and the nation with a devotion that is rare, Senator Lodge offers his services. What we have written is intended as an introduction to our women friends of one whom we have known intimately since before his first election to Congress as a Representative.

The spectacular "Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company," with a history going back to early Colonial times, held its 284th "election" on Monday on Boston Common. The parade was about the largest and certainly the most varied in uniforms worn, of any previously seen. Lexington's company of "Minute Men" had a conspicuous place and shared with the best in compliments bestowed. Arlington is represented in the company this year in the person of Lieutenant Frederick H. Andres. The exercises of the day closed with the usual banquet, at which Senator Lodge, Governor Cox and Mayor Curley of Boston were the special guests.

Democrats in the U. S. Senate are filibustering to delay the passage of the tariff bill now under consideration. Lacking other material, several Senators from southern states have revived the Newberry matter and charge all sorts of corruption doings on the Republicans. Was there ever such a "stop thief" outcry? Why the real truth is that nearly all we call the southern states are ruled by a political machine comprising less than twenty-five percent of the voting population, the balances having no right that this oligarchy has the right to respect. Every one knows that in a presidential election that block is at once marked off as certain to cast its electoral vote along historic lines.

Mr. Charles M. MacMillin is the Arlington representative of the Anti-Saloon League in the campaign now on to secure an affirmative vote at the November election on the referendum on the bill recently enacted in the Legislature and signed by Gov. Cox. This bill brings Massachusetts into line with the eighteenth amendment to the U. S. Constitution and provisions of the Volstead act which enforces the same. Massachusetts is the only state that has not such a law in force. The referendum tacked on to this law by the cowardice of members of the Legislature, leaves the present act inoperative and the liquor interests of the whole country are concentrated on securing a negative vote on the referendum. This is what the people opposed to the rum traffic are up against. They are a majority in this community. The only question is, will they vote as they think on election day. Evil things always count on the well known disregard of large numbers of their duties as citizens on election day. For a well wisher for the future to do so this year would be hardly less than criminal.

Mayor Curley's promise to secure a five-cent fare on Boston Elevated will not be fulfilled in the immediate future. In the Legislature on Wednesday, by a vote of 161 to 48, the bill providing for this reduction was denied consideration; equally emphatically voted against a plan for public ownership. The idea of Mayor Curley that the other nearly five cents required to cover cost of transportation be assessed on communities served by the road, has few endorsers. The bill for the proposed new bridge between Cambridge and Boston shared the same fate as those above mentioned.

LEXINGTON LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Mrs. True Worthy White addressed the League of Women Voters on Friday, June 2, at Buckman Tavern. She spoke most entertainingly of the meeting of the National League at Baltimore. In part she said that the Baltimore hostesses had planned for 600, but when all had assembled there were nearly 2000. The ball room of the Belvidere was only half large enough and not until the morning of the conference, were they able to get the Century Theatre.

Mrs. Maud Wood Park made an admirable presiding officer. 150 reporters were in the gallery. The mass meeting preceding the first formal session was addressed by three government officials on the high cost of living. Senator Capper paid special attention to market gambling, one instance being cabbage $6 a ton to the farmer at shipping point. We buy at the rate of $210 a ton.

The program was almost equally divided between discussion of the committee work of the league, Child Welfare, Social Hygiene and Women in Industry. Miss Hay led a discussion as to whether the League should endorse or oppose candidates, the almost unanimous opinion being against it, except in the case of municipal candidates. The question came up whether the League should continue its welfare work or devote itself to political education for women. It was ended by a compromise plan.

The convention was not all serious work however. On Sunday automobiles were taken to Annapolis where the midshipmen were reviewed. There were delegates from twenty-two countries of the Americas, one representative from Haiti, whose color in the Southern city proved embarrassing for the entertainers. It was an eye opener to the women of the United States to meet the Latin American delegates. Most of them were charming and many spoke English fluently, those who did not, had a remarkable interpreter, Mrs. James. There had been a general opinion that Latin American countries were somewhat belated in their legislation concerning women, but Uruguay and Chile have adopted laws considered Utopian in this country. The delegate from the Philippines had a most attractive personality and had the air of a Chinese queen dowager. A mixture of Chinese blood is considered a mark of aristocracy in the island. Lord and Lady Astor were cordially received. She said she seemed to feel that she was home again and glad to be here.

While the Massachusetts delegates were in Washington they were entertained at Mrs. Larz Anderson's lovely mansion, filled with curios. All the delegates were welcomed at the White House, beautifully adorned with many flowers and at the Pan American building. The Marine and Navy bands were lent for the occasion. Mrs. Maud Wood Park gave the following pledge for conscientious citizens, which, if it were taken and kept by a majority of the voters of this country, we should be much nearer the Kingdom of Heaven upon earth than we find ourselves today.

Chats with Your Gas Man

Your gas bills should be thrift bills. Plan your cooking so as to make one burner or one oven cook more than one article of food at the same time.

While the meat is roasting in the oven, for example, you may not only bake other things, but use the floor space of the oven to boil vegetables.

Also give thought to the selection of proper utensils. You know how important it is not to have more heat applied to a utensil than it can absorb at once. Flat bottomed utensils with a base broader than the gas flame are fuel savers.

If pots and pans discolor above the water mark on the inside, the reason is that you have tried to bring the water to a boil too quickly by using too large a burner or two much flame. Use the burner that is just a little smaller than the utensil so that the gas flame does not overlap the sides.

PACKER-EVANS WEDDING

One of the fashionable June weddings and a notable society event took place Saturday evening, June 3, at seven o'clock, when Gwladys Mary Evans, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Evans was married to Henry W. Packer, Harvard, 1907 and 1908, son of Mrs. Emma Packer and the late Dr. H. H. Packer of Lowell, at the Evans' home, 57 Wollaston avenue, Arlington Heights.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with smilax and roses, which added to the natural attractiveness of the interior of the home. In the living room, tall palms and graceful ferns over which a bridal veil was suspended, formed an ideal setting for the bridal party. Concealed behind the palms, Johnson's Orchestra of six pieces rendered the Mendelssohn and Lohengrin wedding marches and also furnished the music during the wedding reception. The ceremony, which was the single ring service, was performed by Rev. Daniel Evans, D. D., of Cambridge, a long-time friend of the Evans family.

The bride made a charming picture, gown in ivory brocade satin, her long tulle veil being held in place with orange blossoms. She wore the groom's gifts, an heirloom bracelet and necklace of pearls. Her bridal bouquet was a shower of orchids and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Frank J. Carey of Framingham, as matron of honor. Her gown was of blue gray charmeuse with trimmings of blue Spanish lace. She carried roses and blue larkspur, held with blue and silver ribbons. Mr. Eliot Harlow Robinson, the well known author of Boston, was best man. The ushers were Theodore R. Hardy, the eminent artist of Boston, who acted as head usher, Major Weston B. Flint, Captain Frank J. Carey, Ray Huntsman, Robert Stevenson and Stanley H. Evans.

Among the distinguished guests who attended the affair were Attorney General and Mrs. J. Weston Allen, and their daughters, the Misses Grace and Caroline Allen; Dr. and Mrs. Thompson of Lowell, Mr. John W. Davies of Boston, Mrs. Lohrop Howard of Boston and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Evans of Boston, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Miss Marie McGrath, secretary to Mr. Packer.

At eight o'clock, a reception was held, attended by many guests from California, New York and other states and cities. A Boston caterer served refreshments. Assisting the bride party in receiving were Mrs. Emma Packer, mother of the groom, who wore gray georgette with sequin trimmings and carried pink roses; Mr. and Mrs. Evans, parents of the bride; Mrs. Joseph Evans, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Theodore Hardy, Miss Dorothy Hardy. The bride's mother wore a gown of Deacon blue chiffon velvet and carried pink roses. Mrs. Joseph Evans was in a lavender gown with black jet trimmings. Mrs. Hardy in gray charmeuse and Miss Hardy in white Canton crepe.

*The Bible school picnic of Trinity Baptist church will be held at Riverhurst, June 17.

*The Sunday school picnic of Church of Our Saviour, will be held Saturday, July 1, at Mother's Rest, Revere.

*Next Tuesday evening, Mrs. A. E. Kenyon will entertain the Woman's Missionary Circle of Trinity Baptist church at her home, 9 Magnolia street. This will be the last meeting of the season.

*Last Saturday the Beginners and Primary department held a party at Trinity Baptist church. The little ones played games and were served with refreshments in charge of a committee, Mrs. W. A. Corcoran, chairman.

*Mrs. Walter K. Thayer is slowly convalescing at her home, 16 Windsor street, from a minor operation performed May 26. Her sister, Mrs. Winthrop Sibley, formerly of Brookline, who has been spending the winter in California, was with Mrs. Thayer for a week.

*The annual lawn party of the Baptist Home in Cambridge was attended by several of the Trinity Baptist church members. This church is represented at the home by Mrs. Charles Lovrien who is a member of the Board of Directors. There was a mutual pleasure in the visit by the church delegation to Miss Flora Hill who is an inmate of the home.

*The Junior class pianoforte pupils of Miss Hazel F. Floyd of 52 Marathon street, were heard in a recital Wednesday, when parents and friends enjoyed hearing the result of the work of this painstaking teacher with her pupils. The pupils taking part were as follows:—Allen Nelson, Esther Churchill, Richard Churchill, Ruth Simmons, Arnold Goodwin, Dorothy Wyman, Kenneth Draper, Frances Leighton, Lillian Morine.

*The Bible school of Trinity Baptist church held a June festival, Wednesday evening at the church, which included the Junior department and those above. Each department met in its room and played games, the senior members gathering in the chapel for their games. Then all marched into the vestry where refreshments were served. Afterwards in the auditorium, stereoscopic pictures were shown of Ocean Park and the story of its summer school told by Rev. A. E. Kenyon, and pictures of Northfield shown and its summer school explained by Miss Ethel Kinney. The committee in charge included Mr. B. H. Heald, Mrs. William Abbott, Mr. Kenyon and Mr. W. A. Corcoran, superintendent of the Bible school.

*A shower was given at the home of Mrs. Alf Anderson of Milton, last week Saturday, to Miss Borghilde Lane of 64 Marathon street, in honor of her engagement to Mr. C. A. Anderson of Mattapan. Mrs. Anderson was assisted by Miss Sylvie Aker in the entertainment that followed the shower. Miss Jessie Moncreu favored the company with many solos; Miss Edith Francis gave a dancing exhibition and Miss Florence Lennon gave a reading. After the entertainment, the guests marched into the dining room where refreshments were served. At each guest's plate was a place card with a small picture of "Bobby" in the corner. Miss Lane received many useful and beautiful gifts and it is certainly true, that he who wishes happiness for himself must first make others happy and the bride to be could not have been much happier than her friends who showered her. They most sincerely wish for her and her fiancé, the best the future has to offer.

*At the special Whitsunday services at the Church of Our Saviour last Sunday, not only was there present one of the largest congregations on record, but it also seemed as though there was a true outpouring of God's Spirit upon the congregation. Mr. Bixby in his sermon showed how the Holy Spirit coming upon the early church made every member a missionary for the cause and in that way the Roman Empire was quickly converted to Christianity. He urged the congregation to pray that they too might receive the Holy Spirit and each become missionaries for Christ, and as the Communion service advanced, it seemed that the prayer was answered. Another feature of the service was the announcement by Mr. Bixby that he expected to take no vacation this summer and he expressed the hope that the summer might be one of progressive work rather than of the usual relaxing of work. "No Vacation in Religion" is the motto this summer as the Church of Our Saviour. Next Sunday, Trinity Sunday, it is planned that the church school will march into the church in a body following the choir, remaining until the hymn before the sermon.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The members of the Bugle and Drum Corps formally ended the season's work Memorial Day when they did the "March Past" at the ball game to which they were most courteously invited by the Knights of Columbus.

Our Commissioner, Mrs. Emery, was both touched and pleased at the remembrances from the Scouts that greeted her as she entered her stateroom on the "Canada" last Friday for her eleven weeks' trip through Europe. These took the form of a lovely basket of flowers out of which peeped a tiny American flag from the members of Troops I and II, while Troops III and IV presented her with one of the new Scout compasses with the hope that as the days of summer glide swiftly by it might guide her wandering footsteps homeward.

On Monday afternoon the Scouts of Troop IV enjoyed a hike to Stearns' pond where under the guidance of Mrs. Webster some twenty-four completed the necessary requirements in Nature Study laid down for a second-class badge.

The all night hike planned for last Friday by the members of Troop II had to be given up on account of the threatening weather conditions.

The Scouts will be rejoiced to learn that Mrs. Groot is steadily gaining and hopes to leave the hospital the latter part of next week when she will go directly to her summer camp in Maine, returning home in September to take up again her Scout duties.

The last regular meeting of Troop I was held on Wednesday at the home of its captain, Miss Muriel Childs, who was awarded at that time by Deputy Commissioner Mrs. J. Chester Hutchinson with a first-class badge. Miss Childs is the first of our captains to earn this much desired emblem, a token of her devotion to the cause of scouting which she has done so much to make successful here in Lexington. Citizen badges were also awarded at this time to the members of Mrs. Love's class, all of whom passed their recent examination. Besides which, the Flower Finder Badge and the Economist Badge were given Scouts Helen Ballard and Ernestine Crone respectively; the Community Service Pin awarded Scout Sarah Emily Brown; and 18 gold and 7 silver attendance stars given the various members of the troop, the former denoting perfect attendance and the latter but one absence to troop meetings during the past year.

ALLEPPO TEMPLE BAND TO PLAY HERE

The Shriner's band of Boston is to play for a special concert at the Masonic Circus and Horse Show to be held at Bassett's Field, Arlington, June 23rd. This is a special added attraction for this night only and they will be accompanied by the Aleppo Drill Corps, who will give an open air drill at the center, also in the big circus tent.

Slide show features are arriving daily and this end of the circus will be well worth seeing. William C. Trowel will be ring master and any one who knows Bill, feels that no better man could be picked for that position.

SUNDAY SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES

—Irving H. Brown, a driver for the Neopolitan Ice Cream Company, reported to the police on Sunday that while he was delivering ice cream at a store in East Arlington, some boys had released the breaks on his truck and that the machine had come in contact with a tree, doing some damage to the front end.

—Philip A. Hendrick of 12 Draper avenue, former town counsel and an ardent lover of the game of golf, won the tournament at the Woodland Golf Club, Auburndale, on Monday of this week, topping the list of one hundred and eleven entries and coming through with a gross score of 78 which was the best of the tournament. His score was 37 out and 41 coming in.

—Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Blake entertained the members of the J. D. Club at their home on Lombard terrace, June 3. The guests assembled at seven thirty and a most delicious Dutch dinner was served at eight. The living and dining rooms were decorated with vases of fleur-de-lis, the colors in pale yellow and violet. A most delightful evening followed.

—Many of the householders apparently did not read the circular that was left at their door relative to the collections of ashes and rubbish for the summer season. All week long barrels have been out on the sidewalk and the police have been kept busy notifying the householders to get the barrels in off the streets and instructing them as to the proper date for putting them out.

—Mysterious poisoning of dogs in the Heights section of the town is puzzling the police and residents in general. Of late several dogs have been reported as poisoned and in each case the dogs died. Evidently some one in the neighborhood does not like dogs and has taken this means of ridding the neighborhood of them. This is a serious offense and the police are working on the case in an effort to bring the guilty party to justice.

—Some time Sunday morning a dog, an Irish Terrier, was struck and run over by an automobile on Mass. avenue opposite the home of Mrs. Emma Locke Sprague. The animal dragged itself into the long grass near Mrs. Sprague's house and was found there later. Mrs. Sprague took the animal into her home and called Dr. Smith. The dog is now apparently all right again and Mrs. Sprague is anxious to find its owner. The dog is evidently used to being around the house and had considerable training.

—Hundreds from this town went to the shores of Alewife Brook on Saturday evening to witness the "Battle of Alewife Brook." The affair was staged by members of Dilboy Post, American Legion, and the big event of the evening was a mimic battle. This was put on just as the boys fought "over there" with all the fixings, so far as cannon and rifle fire, aerial rockets, torches and barb wire went. The "battle" was realistic and showed just what the boys did while in action. The 101st Engineers figured prominently in the affair and built the bridge across the brook, by which the defenders crossed over and drove back the enemy.

—The family of Charles Thibodeau have the sincere sympathy of the many friends and neighbors in the loss of Mrs. Thibodeau, who died at her home, 210 Mass. avenue, on Memorial day, following an illness of several weeks, but death coming unexpectedly while she was sleeping. A true home-loving woman she had endeared herself to all with whom she had come in contact. Her home was her great pride and her going is mourned by many outside the family circle. The funeral took place on last Friday morning, a high mass of requiem being celebrated in St. Agnes church by Rev. Donald F. Simpson. Many attended the service and there were a large number of very beautiful floral tributes. Burial was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

FIRST SERVICE IN NEW AUDITORIUM CALVARY METHODIST CHURCH

The special services held at Calvary Methodist church, Arlington, in honor of the first services to take place in the new auditorium were largely attended by visitors as well as members of the church congregation, last Sunday morning and evening.

The floral decorations were in charge of Mrs. Samuel J. Wallace and Mr. Clarence Smith. The palms, ferns and hydrangeas in pink, white and lavender were loaned by Mr. J. L. Beasley of the Rawson Flower Shop. Memorial bouquets were given by the following members, a basket of red roses, Mr. and Mrs. John Malcolm; bouquet of white roses and sweet peas, Mrs. W. D. Storey; bouquet mixed carnations, Mrs. Whitten and Mrs. O. R. Aylesbury; brides roses in memory of Howard Ramsey from his wife and family; brides roses, Mr. and Mrs. C. Smith; pink carnations, Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Strait; white carnations from the Wadman family; white carnations, Mr. and Mrs. Manford Phinney; red carnations, Mrs. Warren Perkins; carnations, assorted, Miss Emma Allman; assorted bouquet, Mr. John McNeil. This mass of beautiful flowers augmented by garden flowers, peonies and lilies, was banked about the altar and pulpit. This enhanced the beauty of the interior, that is most attractive.

At the communion service which was observed at ten o'clock in the morning, thirty-two members were received into church membership. Dr. O. W. Warmingham of Boston University, preached at the morning service taking for his subject, "Christian Service," dealing with personal life service as related to the kingdom of God. Dr. F. H. Kirkbride of Chicago, Ill., father of the pastor's wife, Mrs. A. J. Strait, offered the prayer. In the evening Rev. A. J. Strait, preached, taking for his subject, "The Law of the Harvest." Rev. A. F. Reimer of Arlington Heights, offered the prayer.

The special music at both services was in charge of Mr. C. E. Dockrill. The church quartet, Miss Marianne Morris, soprano; Mrs. A. J. Strait, contralto; Mr. Charles E. Dockrill, tenor; Mr. Carl S. Nelson, baritone, assisted by a chorus choir of twenty voices, furnished the music. In the morning the anthems, "Rock of Ages," by Dudley Buck, and "All Hail the power of Jesus Name," Galbraith, were rendered and an offertory number, "I cannot find Thee," Scott, given by the quartet. Miss Helen Treadwell presided at the organ in the morning. A quartet selection, "The Home Light" and a baritone solo, "The King Eternal," rendered by Mr. Carl Nelson, comprised the musical numbers in the evening. Miss Hilda Lynnfield was organist at this service.

The entire color scheme of the interior decorating of the auditorium follows out the original Colonial architectural design of the edifice. The ceiling is in warm buff, the coping in gray, the walls are tinted in French gray, the dado in darker gray. All of the woodwork is in white except the pews, altar railing and doors which are of the natural mahogany. This work was done by Mr. Axel Christensen of Arlington. The lighting fixtures are chandeliers in Colonial style with large silver gray candle holders.

The devotion of the members of this little church was evidenced by their untiring labor throughout the week and especially on Saturday in order that the interior of the church and its grounds might be as perfect as possible.

ARLINGTON vs. BELMONT

The High school baseball team defeated Belmont High team on Spy Pond field Monday afternoon. The Arlington boys did well at the bat, hitting out thirteen good bingles, but they were not forthcoming in the pinches. Several times they had chances to pile up a large score had they batted the ball at the right time, but they did not come through. O'Connor of the Arlington team led his teammates at the bat and had three good hits, also figuring in a snappy double play to first base and catching a hot line drive. The Belmont boys started in to wipe Arlington off the map and in the fourth inning the score stood four to two in their favor. In the fifth Arlington got back the three runs and held Belmont scoreless until the eighth inning when they scored another run. The game ended in a score of nine to five, in favor of Arlington. Donnelly pitched his first game of the season for the high school, doing a good job and has promise of making a fine pitcher. He is left handed, his delivery is good and his control steady. Scanlon caught the greater part of the game but was relieved by Forbes, both doing excellent work behind the bat. O'Neill at left field made some good catches and handled the ball well, getting one runner who tried to make home base from third base, at the plate after catching a fly ball. The summary—

WHISTLING AT PRIVATE CROSSINGS

The two private crossings, one at Linwood street, the other at Swan place, Arlington, have become a nuisance to the people living near the railroad between these places. The trains going to Boston whistle four times too long and two short, often screeching as demons in Tophet; and the trains coming from Boston, one long ear-splitting blast foretelling the judgment. Both crossings are private and the one at Swan place is nailed up every year to save the legal restriction.

Now why should the people who live along the railroad be obliged to listen to this screech whistle every time a train goes in or comes out? It is not so bad to hear the rumbling of the train, but to hear these signals is overdoing the matter. If private ways must be kept open then let us accept them as streets and protect the public accordingly. People will cross a railway track though you may fence them out, but of course at their own risk. Why should scores of people pay the penalty for a few reckless tramps? Why should residents be obliged to put up with this nuisance for a few private interests? In cities and many villages railroads are forbidden to blow the whistle within the civic limits, or in residential portions; and there does not seem to be any sufficient reason for blowing these blasts in Arlington.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Surrounded by children, grandchildren, other relatives and intimate friends, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Burgess of 13 Tower street, Somerville, observed, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. R. I. Lawley, at 214 Mass. avenue, this town, the 50th anniversary of their wedding, Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgess were assisted in receiving by their two daughters, Mrs. May B. Perkins, wife of Ralph G. Perkins of 34 Tower street, Somerville, and Mrs. Rubena A. Lawley, wife of Dr. B. I. Lawley, also by their son, Arthur A. Burgess of 15 Bacon street, Newton. Their sons-in-law were ushers.

Mrs. Burgess wore a gown of gray canton crepe, trimmed with Spanish lace and carried a shower bouquet of artificial daisies, having gold coins as centers. The bouquet was the gift of the Sunday school class, of which Mr. Burgess has been the teacher for 25 years.

After the reception there were readings and vocal solos by nieces and a program by an orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Burgess were the recipients, not only this evening, but during the day, of many congratulations and several gifts of gold. About 100 were present, including guests from several cities of Greater Boston and from Haverhill. Four of those who attended the wedding 50 years ago were present at the reception tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgess were married at the home of the bride's parents at South Boston, June 5, 1872, and spent nearly half of their married life in that district. They moved to Somerville 27 years ago. They have three children and seven grandchildren.

Mrs. Burgess, who was, before her marriage, Miss Harriet A. Andrews, was the daughter of Henry A. Andrews, well known in South Boston a half century ago. All her early life was spent in Boston.

Mr. Burgess, who was the son of Isaac and Caroline Burgess, came to Boston with his parents at the age of three. He was educated in that city and has been in business there since. At present he is connected with Brewer & Co., Inc., on Atlantic avenue. He always has been prominent in church work and is active in the affairs and Sunday school work of the First Baptist church in Somerville.

Mr. Burgess has two brothers, Frank Burgess of Wollaston and Charles H. of Dorchester, and Mrs. Burgess, a sister, Mrs. Jennie Caldwell of Mattapan, all three of whom were at the reception.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST IN ARLINGTON SCHOOLS

There was more than one person who made inquiry on last Friday as to what was transpiring in the Town Hall. Had any one of them been a parent of children in our public schools, the reporter is sure no such question would have been asked, for there is hardly a child in any one of Arlington's elementary schools that has not been keenly interested in the music memory contest that came off last Friday as the final test in something that has been absorbing the interest of pupils the entire year.

Last year a contest was held in the High school assembly hall on an evening. In order that the pupils should not become too tired, this year the contest was planned for the morning and afternoon of June 2nd and in Robbins Memorial Town Hall.

A more interesting and thrilling sight would be difficult to imagine than that witnessed in the Town Hall on last Friday. In the morning at 10 a. m., the pupils in the fourth and fifth grades in the schools assembled. Twenty-one of the fifty compositions that had been studied during the year, were selected for the final contest.

In connection with this music appreciation work the scholars are taught to dramatize the compositions, to study the composer and to learn all that there is to know about the compositions. The teachers in the schools have given Miss Pierce the most hearty co-operation in her work and she, in her magnanimous way has given the teachers all the credit for the success of the pupils in their wonderful demonstration of what they have accomplished through the year in the line of music. But they all realize that there has been an unusual personality to direct and lead, that has inspired all to do their best, and that has been Miss Pierce.

Both morning and afternoon, while the papers were being corrected by the teachers, pupils in the fourth, fifth and six grades in Cutter school, gave a dramatization of four or five of the compositions studied that were most interesting.

At the afternoon contest the compositions to be guessed were played on the Victrola through the courtesy of Mr. John Colbert, others on the violin by Miss Taylor, the violin instructor of the school orchestra. Helen Brine gave one number on the violin; Mr. John Hendrick sang the Two Grenadier's; Miss Pierce rendered "One Fine Day" from Madam Butterfly, and there were duets and solo numbers on the piano by Mrs. Newton and Mrs. Edward Allen and selections by the High school orchestra augmented by other players, all being the compositions selected for the final contest. Their music was splendid and each contributed not a little to the enjoyment of the contest which was by the Junior High pupils and pupils in the sixth grades. Out of 593 taking the contest in all grades, 544 passed in perfect scores.

At Parmenter school, thirteen pupils in grades three and four took the final contest. All thirteen passed with perfect scores, making that school 100 percent. At Russell school there were eighty-four who took the final contest in grades four, five and six. Seventy passed in perfect scores making 83.3 percent.

In Cutter school eighty-five took the final contest in grades four, five and six. There were eighty perfect scores, making 94 percent.

Locke school, seventy took the final contest in the same grades. There were sixty-nine perfect scores, making 98.5 percent.

Crosby school, one hundred and thirty-eight took the final contest. There were one hundred and twenty-four perfect scores, making 89.8 percent.

Junior High West. There were sixty-nine taking the final contest. Number of perfect scores 62, making 89.8 percent.

Junior High Center, one hundred and thirty-four took the final contest with one hundred and twenty-seven perfect scores, making 96.2 percent.

Each child has received a silver pin with the words, "Music Memory Contest, Perfect Score," engraved on it.

Some one fully capable of judging of the contest has written a letter expressing commendation of the manner in which the entire contest was carried out. Also interest in watching the immediate response of the children before hardly four bars of the themes were played and the pupils confidence in writing the difficult titles and composers. In closing the letter the writer said that it was one of the finest demonstrations resulting from superior teaching, ever seen. That comment to the musical supervisor and her associate teachers is justly merited.

The names of pupils with perfect scores follow:

TEN TIMES BIGGEST CIRCUS
HERE SOON
Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Fair draws near and with it will come a great circus of ten thousand wonders to exhibit in Boston, week of June 12.
This mammoth amusement enterprise of 1922 has been officially recorded as "America's ten times greatest circus." It is a third bigger than it was in 1921. For in addition to the many innovations offered there, the present season's program numbers ten more trained wild animal displays, making twenty in all—and the most superb trained horse acts that Europe has yet produced. The wild animal and equine displays of 1921 were in the nature of a prelude to the greatest show night judge of their popularity. So enthusiastically were these numbers received that the famous showmen immediately arranged for the purchase of the world's finest acts of this kind. An entire equine circus was bought outright and brought to this country last winter, and while the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey groups were securing this and the trained tiger, polar bear, lion, leopard and jaguar groups, they had orders to enslave the foremost men and women performers of the European capitals. And these stars from city and jungle are all to be seen with this wonder circus of 1922. Everything including the great double menagerie of more than a thousand animals and exhibiting such animals as a mite of a baby Hippopotamus and its three-ton mother, is to be seen for the price of one admission ticket. And by "everything" is meant not only the wild animal and equine displays, but the entire circus. More than 700 men and women, embracing the world's foremost acrobatic stars, take part. There are 100 clowns. Aside from the ferocious beasts, the program includes forty trained elephants. There are five companies of trained seals, many dogs, bears, monkeys, pigs and pigeons. It is the biggest circus program that the world has ever seen, given under the largest tent.

—George G. Polley, commonly known as "The Human Fly," attracted a crowd in the center Wednesday evening to witness his climb up the side of old Town Hall building to the top, incidentally to the flag pole. Before he started to climb onto the roof of the building he did the feat of standing on his head as near the edge of the building as it was possible to get, which made many in the crowd hold their breath and others to turn away from the thrilling sight. The cupola showed signs of weakness as he climbed up, and he refused to go to its peak on account of this he said, but he placed a banner near to the top advertising a well known brand of bread which floated from there all the next day. The climb was under the direction of American Legion, Post 39, which had —One of the delivery teams belonging to the W. H. Hutchinson firm of groceries and provisions, slid into Spy Pond Saturday evening while left standing on the side hill on Addison street and goods were being delivered to a house on the street. All kinds of produce such as chickens, oranges and string beans, were plunged into the pond and some of the children, drawn there by the report of the accident, reaped a harvest in the fruit especially. Another of the Hutchinson's auto delivery trucks came to draw out the auto, but it took man strength which was readily given by neighbors, to draw the auto from the water. There was no one in the auto at the time it ran away. Fortunately there was no other auto on the street at the time, one having just passed before the accident occurred.

—On the afternoon of Monday, June 5, the members of the Mission Circle, connected with the Universalist church, and their friends were entertained by Mrs. A. F. Mead, in her cheery and spacious home, 27 Jason street. After a social hour the company listened with intense interest to a paper on Clara Barton, "Angel of the Battlefield," read by Mrs. Elizabeth R. Berry of Boston and Cambridge, a close friend of Miss Barton. Among the friends present was Mrs. Roscoe Wells of Arlington, who was private secretary of Clara Barton during her last public work and who now is the National Secretary of the First Aid Association of America. The Clara Barton Memorial missionary boxes were opened and a goodly sum was received to be sent to the committee in charge of the purchase and restoration of the birthplace of Miss Barton in North Oxford, Mass. What gave added pleasure to the afternoon, was the fact that it was the birthday anniversary of the hostess, Mrs. Mead. Later delicious ice cream was served.

SCHOOL TRACK MEET, ARLINGTON WINS FROM STONEHAM

Wednesday afternoon, Dr. William T. McCarthy, director of athletics in the schools of Arlington, had his track teams compete with the teams from Stoneham High. The Arlington boys won out, taking forty-five and a half points. Victor Duplin of the Stoneham team was the prize winner for his team and his work was of the very best. He is a strong and fast runner and if properly handled, should make the large college teams. All the events were contested for with vigor and the wins were not all easy ones, except in the mile run when Charlie Collins ran away from the field and finished strong and with a good lead over the rest of the runners. Dr. McCarthy was assisted in conducting the meet by J. Doherty and T. Doherty, two Tufts sprinters of note, who acted as judges. The contest showed the Arlington boys to be in good shape and this (Friday) afternoon they go to Lexington to compete with the Lexington boys in a series of track events. The summary of events:—
